JAMBURG IS RETAKEN

Check To German Advance Indicated By Report From Petrograd.

London, March 9.—A Russian revolutionary army recaptured Jamburg, 68 miles from Petrograd, on the morning of March 5, according to an official announcement made in Petrograd Thursday and forwarded by the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Kiev, the capital of the Ukraine, is still in the hands of Russian revolutionary troops, and has not been occupied by the Germans, according to a statement issued Wednesday by the Russian offical news agency in Petrograd. The previous message saying Kiev had been lost to the enemy, the statement adds, was due to the receipt of a wireless message, which must have originated from enemy sources.

Amsterdam, March 9.—Commenting on the outcome of the Brest-Litovsk conference, at which peace with the Russian Government was concluded, the Socialist newspaper Vorwaerts says:

"Peace was concluded, but the delegates parted with feelings of deadly enmity. That such was the case is a deeply regrettable event. The German workmen do not stand behind Von Rosenberg (assistant to Foreign Secetary Von Kuehlmann and chairman of the second Brest-Litovsk conference) or the policy for which he stands. Let us therefore face the facts and frankly declare that in this peace the success which was sought has been denied to Socialism of all shades of opinion."

COMPENSATION BILL.

House Disagrees With Governor and Senate on Vital Clause in Measure for Workmen's Protection.

Richmond, March 9.—By a vote of 56 to 30 the house of delegates passed the workmen's compensation bill at the night session Thursday, after restoring the provision for a commission of three members at salaries of $3,600 each, eliminated by the senate at the express wish of the governor.

Members of the assembly close to the governor, stated last night that the governor would veto the bill rather than approve of the provision, which he desired taken care of by placing the administration of the act under the joint control of the heads of the labor and insurance departments and the second auditor.

The house further amended the bill by exempting from its provisions those employing fewer than sixteen persons, the vote on this amendment being 46 to 41. The vote restoring the salaried commission was 53 to 34.

NEW ATTACKS UPON LONDON.

Air Raiders Kill 11 While Two Machines Reach English Capitol.

London, March 9.—London was raided by enemy airplanes last night Lord French, commander of the home defence forces, announced yesterday.

Eleven persons were killed and forty-six injured, the official statement said. It was feared that six others were still buried in the wreckage.

Two enemy airplanes of a fleet of seven or eight succeeded in reaching the city, is was stated. These dropped several bombs.

Two other planes coming up the Thames estuary, were turned back before reaching London.

Others crossed Essex, dropping bombs southwest, northwest and north of London. Several houses were demolished.

DUTY TO KEEP WELL

Proper Precautions Should Be Taken In Alexandria During the Coming Summer.

The Manassas Journal calls attention to the action of the state department of health which urges that in every community in Virginia, rural as well as urban, there shall be carried on intensive campaigns against all forms of preventable diseases.

As is well-known, the surface closet, unscreened against flies, is a menace to every family in a community. A well into which surface water runs carrying deadly disease germs may poison an entire neighborhood. A neglected pond of stagnant water may breed a sufficient host of anopheles mosquitoes to serve as transmitters of malaria sufficent to cause a whole community to have malaria.

Heed should be taken to the above warning in Alexandria at this time, and every exertion made to keep our city healthy during the coming summer. While there are sewers on many of our streets, in a large number of cases they have not been tapped by houseowners, and surface drainage still exists, which is a menace to the entire community. As was recently suggested by the Gazette the time has come when the trunk sewer on Royal street should not stop between Franklin and Jefferson, but be continued to Hunting Creek.

LIGHTNING KILLS GIRL.

Miss Dorotha Townsend Was Before Window When Hit.

Salisbury, Md., March 9.—Lightning struck and killed Miss Dorotha Townsend here last Wednesday night during a terrific wind, hail and electrical storm, that wrought considerable damage.

Miss Townsend was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Townsend, who live on the Snow Hill road. The family had retired during the storm, laboring under the idea prevailing in rural sections, that to be on a feather bed is protection from lightning. She was hanging a spread over a window to shut out the flashes when struck. None of the members of the family was even stunned, though plaster and other decorations were torn down.

It is reported that trees and other houses were hit. The high wind blew down telephone and telegraph poles, and cut off communication for awhile.

Averse to a Change.

The Orange Observer says: Congressman C. C.Carlin, of Alexandria, is a candidate for re-election. He has two rivals in the field, but no right minded voter would think of casting a vote against him, especially when he has made such a brilliant record and has done so much for his constituents, and another thing, we should not have any change now, just when the whole country is in a chaotic condition. So stand by Mr. Carlin, and see that he is re-elected by an overwhelming majority."

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

West Virginian Slays Woman of Whom He Was Jealous.

Richmond, W. Va., March 9.—With a long gash in his throat, Jack Herold, an employe of the Cherry River Boon and Lumber Company, was found dying Thursday on a porch of his home. Near him was the dead body of his wife, her throat also cut. Herold had a blood stained razor in his hand. Their two infant children were in a room next to the porch.

The evidence before the coroner's jury showed that Herold was insanely jealous of his wife and that at one time they had separated. Herold asked to be permitted to make a written statement, but his physicians say he is too weak.

Flees From Egypt to Escape Death and Then Meets Strangler in Detriot.

Detroit, Mich., March 9.—Miss Arshalous Surmarnian, a pretty seventeen-year-old Armenian girl, was found strangled to death in a coal shed here yesterday afternoon. Both hands were tied tightly with a heavy rope.

A heavy piece of soiled canvas had been bound three times around the girl's throat and knotted. A long-handled wooden mallet was found just outside the shed, and the use to to which it had been put was indicated by a bruise on the victim's head.

Miss Surmarnian, who fled to Egypt to escape death at the hands of the Turkish hordes, is the third girl to be murdered in Detroit within the past thirty days.

PROBLEMS WHICH ALEXANDRIA MUST SOLVE

General Manager B. W. Morse, of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation Tells of Conditions in This City, as Found by the Experts of his Company, Which Must be Changed in order for Alexandria to Take Advantage of its Opportunities as it Should.

The tremendous problems that must be solved by Alexandria if it is to take advantage of the industrial opportunities brought on by the war were outlined by General Manager B. W. Morse of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon of which he was the host and chairman. It was the most representative gathering of citizens that have ever assembled in Alexandria to discuss the needs of the city, and every man was impressed with the bigness and the number of problems the new conditions have brought to the city.

The meeting was even more enthusiastic than the one of Tuesday, which was considered a record breaker. Every man went away with a better idea of the work before the city and its people and with a firm resolve that he would do his part in the great work of solving them and building a great industrial city here.

Facts and figures presented by Mr. Morse were the result of the investigations of the experts of his company. His address in part follows:

Friends and Fellow Townsmen:

I desire to extend to you a most cordial welcome, with all that the word implies in old Virginia and throughout the Southland. We are here for a purpose. The committee on "Greater Alexandria" formulated a plan to develop the municipal organization and resources to keep pace with the rapidly increasing industrial development of the community (with which latter development I am identified.) Our purpose is to go forward with that clearly defined plan.

"Such a campaign as ours is a confession of shortcomings in our body politic—of weakness to be overcome. If I attempt to point out these weaknesses, if I open the family closet and exhibit the family skeleton, remember that I do it in no spirit of censorious criticism, but rather that we may analyse our weaknesses and turn them into strength before the real strain upon them begins. Alexandria's real test and Alexandria's real opportunity comes in the guise of these war industries. The Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation, with which I am identified, and contracted to build, launch and deliver twelve ships for the United States of America, ten of these ships to be launched this year, that is to say within less than ten months from today. Can we do this without your active co-operation? We have in view a large number of additional contracts to be completed later.

The Secretary of war has declared "Ships are the crux of our problem" With Roumania out of the war as well as Russia; with Great Britain lately admitting that the U-boat is sinking her ships faster than she is building them, ships have become even more patently the crux of our problem. Hence we bespeak your active co-operation in our war work and we pledge our co-operation with you in all matters making for civic betterment. With all modesty permit me to call attention to what we have done for this town. While other cities compete desperately for plants offering privileges worth millions, Alexandria without an effort obtained the prize. It means a tremendous impetus to our industries—an impetus not yet fully realized. Our interests are interlocking. You need industrial enterprises for "Greater Alexandria" and we need "Greater Alexandria" for our industrial enterprises—to feed, clothe, amuse and house the army of employees who are shortly coming to build the ships.

"LABOR—always a difficult problem for large industrial enterprises, was never more difficult than now. With several million men withdrawn from industry for active service in the army; with other millions withdrawn from ordinary industry to be a part of the organization behind that army, with war necessities demanding that our annual production be many times multiplied, for our needs and for our allies—the problem of labor becomes the most vital problem we have to face. We have openings in every trade for Alexandria labor, but must of necessity bring thousands from the outside. You may not realize it, but 50 per cent of the ability of a firm to secure proper and efficient labor, at reasonable rates, is dependent upon the living conditions offered to that labor—Schools, transportation, stores, churches, sanitation, amusements and all the other developments which make a town an agreeable place to live in. The employees who come will send reports of the local living conditions home to other waiting men. On whether these reports are favorable or unfavorable will depend whether or not the stream of labor constantly flows in or is dammed at the source.

Realizing the importance of these problems, we have established a Welfare Department, especially designed to take care of housing and living conditions for all our employees. This department has employed experts to survey the housing facilities of our town, which experts find them woefully inadequate. Our plant alone will employ about 3,500 men, experience teaches that this number of workmen will increase the population of a town by from 14 to 18 thousand. A canvas of your city shows 34 vacant houses, and 432 rooms which could be rented. Counting 6 persons to a house, it would require from 2500 to 3000 houses, or counting 2 persons to each room, it would require from 7,000 to 9,000 rooms. Therefore it seems, that there are available only 5 per cent of the number of rooms required, or 1 per cent of the number of houses required. And frends, warn our householders against "profiteering."

"Permit me to congratulate you on your hospital, churches and schools, all splendidly established for present needs. But the schools must prepare extraordinary expansion. We have room for approximately 200 additional pupils, whereas, within the next six months or year, we will be called upon to accommodate 2000 or 3000 additional pupils. Your splendid hospital is equipped, I understand, with 60 beds. One-hundred and eighty beds will probably be needed, and other equipment in proportion.

"How many hotels have we here? How many theatres? The need is great and will be greater.

"Consider our lighting and water system. For illuminating purposes in the home we have splendid service; but electricity for power and commercial purposes is far from adequate, and the rates for power are far from enticing to prospective industries, cheap power is a slogan of all growing industrial centers. Our water system has 30 pound pressure and should have at least 110 pounds to insure fire protection and proper sanitation.

"Street and road improvements are needed. Go visit any of the industrial plants lately opened here, and see condition of the roads leading to them—a condition which wrecks motor trucks, delays transportation and handicaps operations in a hundred ways. The trolley service is good. Is it prepared for expansion? Can it accommodate the freight hauling that it will be asked to accommodate soon? Look also to the ferry service.

Fellow townsmen, we can congratulate ourselves upon the action of our retail merchants association. They have clearly demonstrated their progressive spirit by voting unanimously to give up their independence and merge themselves into this organization for the sake of greater Alexandria. That spirit is what we want. I have attempted briefly to show our needs. Mr. McFarland will show you how we can fulfil those needs—if we have the spirit that puts us up on our toes, every minute working—if we here and now resolve that we can best serve our nation, our city and ourselves by being at it, all at it and all always at it till the end of the war brings an era of unprecedented prosperity, and Alexandria, regnant, emerges a new city."

CHANGES IN RIVER TRADE.

Conditions along the river have of late been undergoing a decided change. The commandeering by the government of steamboats which have heretofore been operated on the river between Washington, Alexandria and the lower Potomac has virtually thrown upon sailing vessels the work of transportation on the river, thus reproducing conditions which existed three score years ago.

The Baltimore steamers are making but one trip a week to Alexandria and Washington, while a part of the lower river flotilla has been cut out.

This order of things has brought no little complaint from people living on the lower Potomac who have had the benefit of traveling and trading facilities by steam for many years. In some instances automobiles are being used in river counties for the purpose of transporting provisions. Such vehicles are also being used for passenger service.

The steamer Atlantic, which had been transporting to and from Alexandria workmen of the plant of the Washington Steel and Ordinance Company, is no longer running on that route, and men residing in this city are again being transported in motor boats.

It is suggested that a double-end ferry steamer between Alexandria and Washington might prove a paying enterprise at this time. The steamer could make stops at the steel plant a times during the day for the convenience of those employed there who reside in this city.

The population of our city is increasing rapidly, and the reproduction of the ferry service between Alexandria and Washington will, we believe, soon become necessary.

Transportation by sailing vessels is a slow process after the community has been used so long to steamboats, but it was the only means known to the grandfathers of most people now living.

WHERE DO THEY GET IT?

About two weeks ago four white men, Alexandrians, faced the Police Court to answer the charge of being drunk in the streets. When asked where they produced their liquor, all four replied, "In Baltimore." Of course, no one believed that either made a trip to Baltimore in order to purchase stimulants.

There was one case before the Police Court this morning, that of a young white man who had been arrested for disorderly conduct in the house of the complainant, who is a boniface. The accused was drunk when taken in custody. Upon being searched one full pint bottle of whisky was found upon his person and two half-pint bottles. Both of the latter had been "tapped". Upon being made to face the bar, he was asked where he procured his liquor. He gave the same answer—in Baltimore. He was fined $5. The complainant in the case later said the man procured the whisky in Alexandria, as he made no trip to Baltimore.

There are now twelve men in jail who will be brought before the grand jury of the Corporation Court on Wednesday to answer the charge of bringing liquor into the state of Virginia. They are all non-residents.

While residents of other sections of the state are caught with large supplies of wet goods in charge, it is seldom that Alexandrians are arrested, although the transportation of liquor into this city is going on all the time. The police keep certain whites and blacks under espionage, but the suspects so far, have managed to evade their argus eyes.

HUN CRUELTY.

A story of one of the most fiendishly ingenious tricks yet invented by the Germans has been brought to Baltimore by an eye witness. The ruse consists of attaching bombs to the bodies of their own dead, upon retiring from a position about to be occupied by the enemy. The bombs are so arranged that when the bodies are picked up by the stretcher bearers, in order that they may be buried decently, the fuse is ignited automatically and the bomb explodes, blowing the body to pieces and often killing several men. Charles R. Stebbins, a Baltimoran, who has just returned from France, where he served for more than two years as a bombardier in the British Royal Field Artillery, vouches for its truth in every detail.

"It was at Cambrai that I first saw two men wounded by a bomb attached to the body of a dead German they were about to bury," he said. "It happened right on the street under my very eyes. The Huns had left nearly all their dead fixed that way, and there were many casualties. In Peronne I also saw graves that had been dug up and the brass work torn off the coffins. The bodies were left exposed. In several towns I saw mothers who told of seeing their babies impaled on the spikes of railings by drunken soldiers, and I saw two little children with their hands cut off and their tongues split."

"Eve's Daughter"

A rippling, peppery story dominated by the piquant personality of bewitchingly pretty Billie Burke. The picture you can't afford to miss. The story deals with the sudden emancipation of a girl from the restraints of a strict father and the rather disatrous results which follow, with a happy ending, however.

KEPT HER AWAKE

The Terrible Pains in Back and Sides. Cardui Gave Relief.

Marksville, La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson, of this place, writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful.

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night . . . I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieved me until I took Cardui . . .

I was not able to do any of my work for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down I was not able to straighten up again . . . I decided I would try Cardui . . . By time I had taken the entire bottle I was feeling pretty good and could straighten up and my pains were nearly all gone.

I shall always praise Cardui. I continued taking it until I was strong and well." If you suffer from pains due to female complaints, Cardui may be just what you need. Thousands of women who once suffered in this way now praise Cardui for their present good health. Give it a trial. NC-133

ANOTHER ALEXANDRIA CASE

It Proves That There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Alexandria Folks.

Just another report of a case in Alexandria. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Alexandria with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. L. C. Nalls, 540 S. Patrick St., Alexandria, says: "I could hardly get about the house my back felt so weak and sore. When I got down it was almost impossible for me to straighten up. I couldn't rest after I went to bed, my back ached so badly and mornings I could hardly dress myself. I felt weak and tired and my kidneys acted irregularly. My head ached, too. I got my first box of Doan's Kidney Pills at C. W. Summer's Drug Store and they did me so much good that I got another box. After I had finished that my back stopped aching and my kidneys haven't caused me any trouble since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Nalls had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
